

ELITE

A beet pulp-based feed for mature horses in training

Elite is a fully fortified textured feed that combines high-fat and high-fiber ingredients with a special blend of palatable herbs.

Fat sources such as soy oil and flax maximize the performance horse's ability to maintain body weight without the excitability that often accompanies rations abundant in starch. Fat also serves to increase the energy density of a ration, which allows horses to sustain optimal condition on fewer pounds of feed. In addition, soy oil and flax help provide a glossy hair coat year-round.

Fiber-rich feedstuffs such as beet pulp and soy hulls are highly digestible and provide a continuous source of energy during long-term exercise. Elite contains chelated minerals, yeast, and probiotics to support world-class performances.

A mixture of fragrant herbs, including garlic, sage, spearmint, red clover, and rosemary, makes Elite an appetizing, energy-rich feed.

All Banks Mill horse Feeds should be fed with liberal quantities of high-quality hay and/or pasture plus free-choice salt and water.
